Kentucky

I love her spire-hung caves, her fragrant flowers,
Her cliffy rough-hewn rocks, her birded bowers,
Her rippling springs and streams, her freshest showers,
Her hill and mountain tops, her city towers.

I love her Blue Grass vales, her tiller's plod
Her rugged mountaineers, her sportsmen game,
Her gracious gentle folks, her miner's prod,
Her pre-eminent men, her men of fame.

I prize her blooded horse, her cattle fine,
Her tobacco and wheat, her corn and wine,
Her stone, oil, clay, spar, coal, her lead-zinc mine.

I love her "Pennyrile," her rock-bound "Rhine,"
Her naive and pretty maids, her bright sunshine,
For one and all, I thank the God divine.

ANTHRACITE COAL FOUND

Sensational Discovery Report to Have Been Made.

Calio, Ill., March 18.—The discovery of a 5-foot vein of anthracite coal has been made within three miles of Marion, 110 feet down in the shaft of the Spilertown Coke & Coal company. The coal is declared to be equal in every respect to the finest Pennsylvania grade.

Test made by Mr. Wilkerson, president of the company, and an expert mineralogist with an international reputation, show that the coke from the coal runs in fixed carbon 95.15. The coal shows a run of thermal units of 12.26. These great figures indicate that the coal is the finest on the continent, besides containing a high grade of neutral tar and ammonia.

The test have been carried on with the greatest secrecy. In the meantime the mining rights on the thousands of acres in the vicinity have been secured.

Lesson for Merchants.

There is a lesson for every merchant in the experience told by a representative of a Chicago mail order house to a gathering of newspaper men up in Iowa. He said that mail order business depended entirely upon advertising. He made one remark that "merchants should heed." He says that they take the local papers and directed their special efforts to communities where the merchants were not up-to-date advertisers. If the mail order man finds that any line of business in any town or city is not well advertised, as for instance furniture, he said that they flood that territory with their literature and always with satisfactory results. He believed it true. He said that country merchants could greatly cripple the mail order houses if they would advertise freely and in the right manner. He said that every advertisement should describe the articles to be sold and state the price. Here is food for thought by merchants who fear the effect of mail order-houses.

A Novel Idea.

The wife of a well known artist when she entertains at dinner uses for table decorations little squares of white with gay red flowers, on which are set little trees made of branches of real leaves dipped in a preservative. The arrangement suggests an Italian garden. Half of the tiny trees are perfectly round, the others long, slender and pointed at the tops. Alternate trees have little garlands of bright red berries. In the others berries are put in here and there to give a touch of color. The arboreal favors were brought over from Germany by this economical young woman, who finds a dozen of them give a charming effect and save her from spending money on flowers.

A Toast to Laughter.

Here's to laughter, the sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the heaven of youth, the privilege of purity, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the head of the cup of pleasure; it dispels dejection, banishes blues, and mangles melancholy; for it's the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression, the enemy of grief; it makes kings envy the peasants, plutocrats envy the poor, the guilty envy the innocent; it's the sheen on the silver of smiles, the glint of the gold of gladness; without it humor would disappear, and smiles would shrivel, for it's glow of a clean conscience, the voice of a pure soul, the birth cry of mirth, the swan song of sadness. Laughter.—Life.

Moody Offers His Cure.

Dwight L. Moody once called on a ministerial brother in an eastern town, desiring to spend the next day, Sunday, with him. The minister was agreeable, but said that he was ashamed to ask Moody to preach.

"Why?" asked Mr. Moody.
"Well," was the reply, "our people have got such a habit of going out before the close of the meeting that it would be an imposition on a stranger."

"I will preach," said Moody.
When Sunday arrived, Mr. Moody opened the meeting, and then encouragingly said: "My hearers, I am going to speak to two sorts today—the sinners first, then the saints." After earnestly addressing the supposed sinners, he said that they could now take their hats and go. But the whole congregation waited and heard him to the end.—Boston Herald.
